With the smartphone clamp, you can attach your Spike to a smartphone with or without a case on it. Place Spike close to the camera, but ensure that Spike does not obstruct the view from your camera or flash.

Once you have found the best location for your Spike, use your fingers to squeeze the clamps until they lock tightly around the edges of your smartphone. To release the clamp press the clamp release button.

Note - When Spike is removed from your smartphone, ensure that Spike is returned to the same location as when it was calibrated. We recommend using the buttons on your smartphone as a guide to identify the same location, or adding a mark
